

What we do

- Organize and promote face-to-face meetings where land trust professionals can meet, network, share information and learn about innovative projects and best practices.
- Provide support letters for conservation projects in the region.
- Keep members in the region informed through e-newsletters and updates.
- Build relationships with state and federal partners to enhance support for regional conservation projects.
- Identify and engage in collaborative projects that enhance the profile and effectiveness of land trusts in the region.

Northern Region Council

NRC is a coalition of California land trusts dedicated to advancing the conservation of land and water resources of northern California through strategic planning, training, network opportunities, capacity building, and public policy advocacy tailored to the issues and opportunities of the region.

About the Northern Region

The Northern Region Council (NRC) of land trusts encompasses Del Norte, Siskiyou, Humboldt, Mendocino, Sonoma, Lake and Trinity Counties, covering approximately 10.4 million acres; eight river basins that flow to the Pacific Ocean; the Cascade, Klamath and Coast Ranges; and habitats ranging from coastal dune systems, redwood forests to ponderosa pine, oak woodlands, chaparral, annual grasslands, alpine forests, dormant volcanoes, and glaciers. The region's boundaries were designated by the California Council of Land Trusts.

Our Values

Values that guide the work of the Council include the survival and diversity of species, the resilience and vitality of communities, and the sustainability of working lands. The top conservation priorities of member organizations include:

- Intact forests and forested watersheds.
- Rivers and streams and salmon.
- Natural areas and view sheds surrounding communities of people.
- Unique habitats that sustain biodiversity.
- Water quality.
- Wetlands, especially estuaries.
- Working lands.
- Shorelines and coastal areas.
- Trails connecting people to the land.

Vision

By working together, the NRC envisions expanded opportunities for regional land conservation by developing:

- A unified voice for conservation which will promote statewide attention to the region and its issues.
- Policy development and conservation funding opportunities directed to the region.
- Effective communication among land trusts in the region that facilitates shared opportunities, reduces duplication of services.
- Increased opportunities for collaborative projects with public agency and conservation organization partners as result of effective outreach and communication.
- Coordinated training and technical support.
